

Gunfire Kills Three Downstate Hunters; 26 Others Wounded

(By The Associated Press)
Michigan's small game hunting season opened at a costly toll Tuesday. Three men died in the field and 26 others suffered gunshot wounds on the first day.

Nicholas Waselewski, 54, of Detroit, was found dead by a search group after his companions reported him missing. He was felled by a heart attack, according to the Lenawee County coroner.

Dr. W. L. MacCani, 64, Ironwood city health officer, lost his right foot late yesterday while hunting near that community. His foot was amputated after his gun accidentally discharged.

Roger Davis, 27, of Grand Rapids was killed by his own gun as he attempted to beat a wounded pheasant to death with the butt. The shotgun went off, hitting him in the chest.

George Auensen, 37, of South Haven was fatally wounded by a shotgun blast accidentally discharged from a companion's weapon, state police said.

Careless With Weapons

Injured were:
Chester Couch, 44, of Ypsilanti shot while hunting between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

Gary Blanchard, 16, of St. Clair, wounded slightly while hunting in East China township.

James Manne, 55, of Lansing was hit in the face, arms and hands by pellets from a companion's shotgun. He was reported "satisfactory" in Lansing's Edward Sparrow Hospital.

George Uhlin, 41, of Inkster was treated for wounds received while hunting in Exeter township. Earl Langston, 22, of Dearborn was hurt near North Whitaker when his shotgun fired as he was climbing a fence.

Carl F. Paul of Dearborn was injured hunting in Van Buren township.

Joe Evola, 34, of Detroit was injured near Armada.

Radio Man Shot

Delmo Lolli, 31, of Detroit was wounded just north of the city Jack Pershing, 46, of Detroit, an employee of WXYZ, was wounded in the left thigh while hunting near Monroe.

Richard Harris, 14, of Flint was struck in the face and shoulder by shotgun pellets while hunting with his father.

Mrs. Irene Johnson, 49, of Linden was wounded in the left side by a shotgun blast from another hunter. Both she and the Harris boy were released after hospital treatment.

Clinton Dobson, 13, of Port Huron was wounded in the leg while hunting near his home with his 16-year-old brother, James.

Turnpike Phantom Slaying Reward May Turn Into Grab-Bag

By JULIUS GOLDEN

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—If a man charged with the "Phantom of the Turnpike" slayings is convicted in Pennsylvania, a grab-bag style feud may ensue in the little town of Belen, N. M.

There's a matter of $11,000 offered by truck companies for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the murder of two truck drivers on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

John Wesley Wable, 24, charged with the slayings, was captured in Belen Oct. 11 after being spotted by two young women—Caroline Smith and Midge Harmon of Belen.

Sen. Felix Flynn Dies In Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Felix H. H. Flynn of Cadillac died at St. Lawrence Hospital at 4:40 o'clock this morning of a heart condition. He was 72.

Flynn, an automobile dealer, complained of feeling ill during a visit to the capitol last week and was taken to the hospital.

He was a former member and chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission and was acting lieutenant governor during the administration of the late Gov. Luren D. Dickinson.

Flynn first came to the Senate in 1933 and remained there almost continuously ever since. He was a former city and county official.

Weapons Of US Military Forces Get Out Of Style

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon, in its drive to outfit the military with modern arms, faces the problem of persuading old-line officers that cherished but outmoded weapons and systems must be pruned away.

Overnight, the Defense Department's new weapons program, framed by Secretary of Defense Wilson and his deputy, Roger M. Kyes, gained support from a powerful administration source.

Situation Changes

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, in an address at San Francisco Tuesday night, said that in an age of revolution in scientific and production techniques "the surest formula for defeat would be static defense—committed to old-fashioned defense, served by obsolete weapons."

Wilson said on Tuesday a current reappraisal of strategy and arms includes "all kinds of weapons, guided missiles, and he told a news conference:

"We are facing a change in the military situation, like when the cavalry was replaced by the armored division."

There are indications one change may be the Army's anti-aircraft weapons and units. Wilson recently commented that the new missile named the Nike is a form of anti-aircraft weapon. That missile is intended to supplant some present convention anti-aircraft artillery.

Battleships Obsolete?

The Army said last March some Nike installations would be ready by this summer, but Wilson told reporters Tuesday that he thought none had been completed so far.

Another area where the move to discard obsolete weapons may be felt is in the Navy. The continued use of battleships has been questioned before now.

Along with the problem of getting rid of old weapons is another involving decisions on the type, scope and use of new weapons systems. In this field, the Defense Department is confronted with the problem of continental defense against the possibility of Russian atomic attack.

Plant At Kingsford May Be Shut Down If Strike Continues

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP)—Company and union representatives ended all-night conferences today without reaching an agreement to end the 113-day-old strike at the Kingsford Chemical Co.

Federal and state labor mediators held separate conferences with union and company officials from 3 p. m. Tuesday to 5 a. m. today.

Leonard Woodcock of Grand Rapids, CIO United Auto Workers regional director, said strikers would vote tonight on a company offer advanced at the conferences. Woodcock was pessimistic, however.

Last Chance To Agree

"There has been no meeting of the minds. We have made it plain we do not think the company proposal will be satisfactory to the membership," he said.

Company officials said the offer was in the nature of a final chance to end the long walkout. Owen Pyle, president, has stated he may shut down the plant, employing 436, if the strike continues.

George E. Bowles, State Labor Mediation Board chairman, said no positive agreement was reached during the night-long sessions.

The strike, which has flared into violence on occasions, centers on grievance procedures, seniority, a union shop and a check-off dues system.

Police Watch Pickets

However, another big issue is involved—the future of the strikers. Pyle has refused to take back nine men who were arrested in violence that brought 60 state police troopers to Iron Mountain last week.

The strikers continued their picket line at the chemical plant gate today. State police and local law enforcement officers were on hand to prevent any new flareup.

Communism Not My Belief, Says Virginia Corporal

By FORREST EDWARDS

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A corporal from Virginia's mountain country—the first of 23 unrepatriated American war prisoners to quit Communism—said today "I had enough" of life under the Reds.

Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, a 25-year-old former farmer from Big Stone Gap, Va., said it was "more than likely" some of the other Americans who spurned a chance to return home would change their minds.

"Communism is not my belief," he told a news conference. "I have my own beliefs."

Question Unanswered

Dickenson, whose parents live in a remote cabin high in the Allegheny Mountains, returned to the Allies of his own free will.

Rushed to a hospital near Seoul for a checkup, he told newsmen he had contemplated returning for quite a while.

The young soldier flatly refused to answer questions that would have shed light on why he or the other Americans chose to remain with the Reds.

Dickenson said he had not been briefed by Army officers before meeting with newsmen, that the decision not to answer questions was his own.

In contrast to his appearance before the newsmen, Dickenson was smiling and seemed in good spirits when he was transferred to Allied control earlier today at Panmunjom.

Parents Send Message

"It sure feel great to be back in the hands of the Americans," he said, grinning, to newsmen at the short transfer ceremony.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson, were joyful. His mother told a newsmen, "Well, thank God . . . I knew he was coming home if he'd let him."

"If you can," she told the reporter, "I wish you would get a word to him—tell him nobody hereabouts thinks hard of him for what he done, and we will all give him a big welcome home. Ain't no hard feelings on our part."

Dickenson was one of 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 335 South Koreans the Reds said refused repatriation to remain under Communist rule.

Supersonic Jet Breaks Windows

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP)—The airport's plate glass windows, as well as the sonic barrier, were shattered during the first public demonstration of the Air Force F100 Super Sabre fighter plane.

The successor to the F86 Sabre jet, which won fame in Korea, traveled more than 12 miles a minute Tuesday before an audience of nearly 100 persons.

Test pilot George Welch boomed through the sound barrier at a speed exceeding 720 miles per hour in North American Aviation's new sweptwing jet.

Pressure waves reverberated with explosive force as Welch pulled out of four supersonic power dives. A wooden upright, 4x4 inches was cracked and six plate glass windows flew apart in the airport administration building. Twenty-seven smaller windows also were broken, but a North American spokesman said no one was injured.

In this community, four miles from the airport, the sonic explosions rattled dishes. Welch's top speed was not announced.

Fastest announced speed of the super sabre is 760.1 miles per hour, established recently at Salton Sea.

Top 10 Fugitive Caught By FBI

DETROIT (AP)—The FBI captured one of the nation's 10 most wanted criminals, John Raleigh Cooke, 30, in suburban Roseville Tuesday.

Cooke, a Detroit construction worker, is wanted in Massachusetts for armed robbery and kidnapping, and by the FBI for unlawful interstate flight.

Arrested on the job at a construction site, Cooke, a welder, gave up quietly. He said: "It is a relief to be caught. I knew it was coming. I didn't know when."

A tip from an unidentified Detroit and Saginaw County deputy Sheriff, Ray Tessier, led to his capture.

Bond was set at $10,000 on the unlawful flight charge by Federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton. Cooke could not meet it.

The FBI said he was one of four gunmen who staged a Lowell, Mass., area crime spree in September of 1952, which ended with the kidnapping and robbery of an elderly Lowell resident.

Ore Fleet Starting To Lay Up For Winter; Storage Space Filled

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thirty vessels from the Great Lakes ore carrier fleet already have been laid up for the winter, and 10 more probably will be taken out of service in the next two weeks.

A heavy schedule for ship repairs jobs over the coming winter is partially responsible for the early layups. Another reason is lack of storage space on lower lakes docks where ore is arriving faster than it is being consumed by steel mills and available winter storage space already is filled.

Envoy Checks Up With Reds On Korea Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special envoy Arthur Dean leaves for Korea today to determine when, where and on what conditions the Far Eastern Communist powers are willing to negotiate about a Korean peace settlement.

Secretary of State Dulles, having directed this "practical step" to sound out the Red Chinese and North Koreans called on Moscow, meanwhile, for "revealing" evidence of what it intends to do concretely about a settlement in Europe.

At a news conference Tuesday and in a New York speech last night, Dulles made it emphatically clear he is thinking only of dealing with the Reds on specific issues and that he intends to allow them no opportunity to create what he called "the illusion of agreement."

Dean, with a staff of eight advisers and assistants, is flying via Tokyo and Seoul to Panmunjom. He will talk with U. S. military and diplomatic leaders in Tokyo Friday and with President Syngman Rhee and U. S. officials in Seoul Saturday. He will go to Panmunjom to meet with Red Chinese and North Korean representatives Monday.

Poison Menaces Horse Cave, Ky.

HORSE CAVE, Ky. (AP)—This area is gripped in one of the worst droughts in its history, but nobody prays for rain here. It could turn the community's biggest problem into a killer.

Officials have been seeking a solution for four years, but who wants 45,000 gallons of arsenic trichloride?

The chemicals, stored in large tanks along the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, were left behind after the Shaw Oil Co., closed its offices.

There were no complaints until last summer when leakage from one tank killed vegetation in an area almost a mile wide. Startled residents in this community of 1,545 were told that moisture reacts on the chemicals by producing hydrochloric acid fumes and a worse hydrocyanic, arsenic oxide.

The city tried to get rid of it but could find no agency to do the job. It even tried the Defense Department.

Only July 9, the County Health Board issued an ultimatum to the railroad and the oil company to get rid of the chemicals within six days. Nothing happened.

Both were indicted later on charges of maintaining a common nuisance but that was no help since the case is yet to be tried.

"We don't know what to do," says Mayor L. H. Vensel. "We've been safe enough in this dry weather, but we don't know what will happen if it ever rains."

Guilty Of Stabbing

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Isa Margery Dickens, 44, was found guilty today of the manslaughter in the death of her 26-year-old husband, whom she stabbed with a carving knife after he complained that she was burning his steak. Her sentence was delayed.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Eric Johnston, the special envoy of President Eisenhower to the Middle East, arrived here today. One of his tasks will be to discuss with representatives of the Arab states and Israel possible mutual development of water resources.

Grandmother's Hand Stops Rolling Auto With Two Babies In It

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Pilkington, 61, was sitting with her two grandchildren in a car parked on a supermarket lot Tuesday night when the vehicle started to roll backward.

Knowing nothing about auto operation and fearing for the safety of the children—Susan Sweigert, 15 months, and Dale, 3 months—Mrs. Pilkington leaped out of the car and grabbed desperately at one of the rear tires.

It worked. Her hand, pinned beneath the wheel, halted the rolling car. Her screams brought rescuers to the scene who lifted the car to free her.

X-rays at Chester Hospital showed no broken bones.

Delta Potato Show:

Thursday Program Will Climax County Harvest

The culmination of the potato harvest in Delta County will take place Thursday when the businessmen of Escanaba sponsor the Delta County Potato Show in the Brackett Chevrolet showroom at 601 Ludington St.

The county's biggest and best potatoes will be on display from 9 to 5. The public is invited to attend any time during those hours. However, judging will take place during the morning and blue ribbon winners will not be known until noon, County Agricultural Agent Joseph L. Heirman's office said.

The public will see potatoes which the farmer has selected from his entire crop for their perfection, and their uniformity in size and shape. The farmer has examined his entries to see that they are free from defects and diseases. Probably he has carefully brushed them to make sure they look their best. Each potato is supposed to weigh seven or eight ounces.

4-H Displays

There will be displays from table stock growers, who have grown their potatoes from their own seed; and also from growers who have used certified seed, a quality seed which cuts down on disease in the crop.

An interesting feature of the show will be displays by 4-H members. This year, for the first time in 4-H history in Delta County, every 4-H member in a potato project grew his potatoes from certified seed, County 4-H Agent Fred Bernhardt has reported. Two 4-H'ers used foundation stock, which is of even higher quality than certified seed.

Judging the entries Thursday will be D. L. Clannahan, extension specialist in Michigan State College farm crops department. County Agricultural Agent Heirman said he will ask Clannahan to say a few words at the evening program in Cornell Town Hall which will conclude the day's program.

In the program at the Cornell Town Hall, which will begin Thursday night at 8:30, Escanaba businessmen will award the trophies and premium awards, Heirman said.

Dance Will Follow

Crowning of the Delta County Potato Queen will also take place during the evening program. The queen was chosen Oct. 19 from a group of seven girls nominated by home demonstration groups, but her identity will be kept secret until Thursday night.

A dance will follow the award ceremonies and the coronation. There is no admission charge. Ivan Kobasic and his orchestra will provide the music, which is made possible through the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Musicians' Protective Union, Local 663, Escanaba, Heirman said.

The Cornell PTA will serve lunch in the basement of the town hall.

Winners in the county potato show will compete in the Upper Peninsula Potato Show in Ironwood Nov. 4 and 5. The Delta County Potato Queen will also attend the U.P. show, matching her beauty against queens from other U.P. counties.

Enroll Thursday In Adult School

Adult Evening School classes in 20 subjects are being offered this year for residents of the Escanaba area and enrollment is scheduled Thursday, Oct. 22, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. in Junior High School gymnasium.

Vernon Ihlenfeldt, director of the adult education program, today announced that in addition to the 20 classes now scheduled there has been a request for a class in conversational German. Should there be sufficient interest — at least 10 students are required — this class will also be organized.

The adult education program is sponsored by the Escanaba Board of Education.

The 20 classes now scheduled, the time of the class, and the instructors, are as follows:

- Conversational French, Tuesdays, Elie DeDryver.
- Conversational Swedish, Mondays, Rev. John Anderson.
- Conversational Spanish, Mondays, Charles Koskela.
- Typing, Mondays, Jack Magnuson.
- Christmas Decorations, Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Richard Flath.
- Slide Rule and Mathematics, Tuesdays, Clarence Zerbel.
- Sewing, Mondays, Mrs. L. N. Blahnik.
- Knitting, Tuesdays, Miss Nina Lay.
- Woodworking and Furniture Repair, Mondays, Erwin Wolff.
- Machine Shop, Mondays, Robert Hanson.
- Welding, Mondays, Donald Iverson.
- Art Workshop, Tuesdays, Miss Charlene Loebel.
- Square Dancing, Thursdays, Steve Baltic.
- Basic Mechanical Drawing and Blue Print Reading, Tuesdays, Oliver Koeki.
- Advanced Bridge, Mondays, J. L. Temby.
- Piano Study, Mondays, Mrs. Fred Carlson.
- Speak Easy, Mondays, Mrs. Vera Decker Murray.
- Supper Club, Tuesdays, Mrs. Dennis Foltman.
- Rugmaking, Monday afternoons, Mrs. Fred Carlson.
- Everyday Electricity, Tuesdays, Jesse Pomazel.

COMMANDER — Mrs. George C. Stuart, 1805 S. 16th St., Escanaba, is commander of the Delta County Cancer Society for the current year. She is a volunteer worker and in company with other members of the local organization is attending an annual leadership conference of the American Cancer Society in East Lansing this week. Others attending are Mrs. A. M. Gilbert and Mrs. F. W. Schmitt, Escanaba, Mrs. Walter Manntie of Rock and Miss Jean Miller of Gladstone.

Rotarians Tour Phone Exchange

Members of the Escanaba Rotary Club following their Monday noon meeting toured the Escanaba exchange of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company under the direction of George Marcouiller, manager.

Operation of the exchange was explained to the visitors by personnel from the various departments.

In event of power failure or because of disaster or other emergency the electricity required to operate the phone system could be maintained for two days with power from banks of large storage batteries in the basement of the exchange building, located at First Ave. S. and 10th St.

Thousands of miles of wires and cables are used in the exchange equipment, and more than two score girls and women are employed on the local and toll phone panels. They usually are the phone customer's only contact with the Bell Telephone Company — the voice that answers "number, please?"

The number of phones and the volume of calls has increased steadily here within the past 10 years. Extension of phone service to rural areas in Delta County has been one of the major programs of the company in recent years.

Methods of telephone relay, of record keeping, of facilities and equipment in connection with operations of the exchange were viewed by the Rotarians.

Fair Store Modernization Marks 65th Anniversary

One of Escanaba's oldest business institutions is this week turning a new and confident face to the community it has served for the past 65 years.

The Fair Store, established in 1888, has had its ups and downs, but in the words of its proprietor, Charles H. Gessner, son of the founder of the store, "we are still young enough and enthusiastic enough about the Upper Peninsula to build a new Fair Store which we hope will always be a credit to our community."

Founded by the late Herman Gessner and his brother, Ben, the first Fair Store was in the 800 block on Ludington Street. The present Fair Store building at Ludington and N. 11th St. was erected in 1903.

Building Being Modernized

Prominent in the business and civic life of this community for many years, Herman Gessner died in 1944. Through his initiative many programs of benefit to the area were begun, including the first county fair, a farmer's market, and aid to crippled children.

He was one of the organizers of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Today his son, Charles, is bringing the Fair Store forward with a modernization program inside and out. The work is now under way.

"We had hoped to have our main floor and exterior modernization completed for our anniversary," said Charles Gessner. "Unfortunately, lost shipments and delays have made this impossible."

Anniversary Sale

"We have been able to complete our main floor, however, and have done a good part of the first floor exterior—sufficient so the community can visualize what the exterior will be like when we complete it to the top of the building."

In connection with the anniversary the Fair Store is sponsoring a Sixty-Fifth anniversary sale which will begin tomorrow.

"Not many stores are fortunate enough to reach their 65th birthday and we, of course, are grateful to the community's support through the years, making this long retail experience possible," Gessner added.

The history of the Fair Store is linked with the progress of the Escanaba community. It is one of the largest independent, home-owned department stores in the

City Police Report Two Minor Accidents

Two minor traffic accidents occurred in the city Tuesday afternoon and night, city police said this morning.

Police said Michael Curran, 41, 610 S. 17th St., stopped his car at the N. 10th St. stop sign Tuesday night about 11:50 and then started across Ludington. He had passed the centerline when a car driven by Emil Iverson, 67, of 326 N. 13th St., ran into the side of the Curran auto, damaging both cars.

Police ticketed no one.

Tuesday afternoon about 4, Mary H. Costley of 1001 Sheridan Rd., driving on S. 11th St. near 6th Ave. S., saw James Morin, 8, of 1406 Ludington St., riding another boy on his bike. Miss Costley braked and did not hurt the boys, but her car hit the bike. City police gave no tickets.

Citizens Committee "Whitewash" Does Not Solve Eligibility Ills

THE so-called citizens committee, appointed by Dr. Clair Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, to clear up the confusion and the wrongs that have been committed in the name of the Michigan High School Athletic Association in eligibility cases has added nothing constructive to the situation. On the contrary, the citizens' committee has turned out to be merely a "whitewash" for the association.

The committee's idea of straightening out the mess was to recommend that the "awards" rule, source of all of the confusion and inequities, be reinstated. The rule was suspended recently by a legislative rules committee which recognized the unfairness of the regulation.

It becomes quite obvious that Dr. Taylor's appointments to the citizens' committee were hand-picked to support the old rule rather than to find a fair solution to the problem.

It is true that Mayor Robert E. LeMire

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Many of us wonder about the precise meanings and pronunciations of words we have run across again and again in reading but never used in conversation. Here are ten words with which you and your friends certainly have a nodding acquaintance. Are you sure you can use them accurately in speech and writing?

Why not make a game of discriminating precisely the shades of meaning of each of these words? You can play the game yourself or try it with a group by having the questions read aloud—slowly to give every player a fair chance—with each contestant writing down his choice of the phrase closest in meaning to the key word. You can check the results against the answers below.

1.—Canon: (a) a heavy weapon used in war, (b) a member of a small city or small municipal board, (c) a fundamental law or rule, (d) a legal ruling.

2.—Cabal: (a) a secret agreement by a few designing persons, (b) a conspiracy between two countries, (c) mystic art or occultism, (d) the home of a wealthy Arab.

3.—Debenture: (a) a certificate of capacity, (b) written evidence of past employment, (c) a girlish adventure, (d) a certificate or other written evidence of debt.

4.—Collusion: (a) open agreement between members of a group, (b) cooperation in a fraud, (c) an accident, between cars or persons, (d) an architectural error.

5.—Talesman: (a) a teller of tales or a writer, (b) a person added to a jury, (c) an extra man on a board of governors, (d) a superstitious figure or charm.

6.—Exigency: (a) a situation requiring urgent action, (b) a means of leaving a place in an emergency, (c) a moment filled with umor, (d) a time of national prosperity.

7.—Agenda: (a) an executive group appointed by court in bankruptcy, (b) a list of items of business for a meeting, (c) anything additional to be discussed at a meeting, (d) the minutes of a business meeting.

8.—Supplement: (a) to entreat, (b) to supply a deficiency, (c) to add unnecessarily, (d) to instruct.

9.—Elicit: (a) to do anything unlawfully, (b) to draw out, (c) to develop a potential, (d) to result in failure.

10.—Proviso: (a) the function not a deputy, (b) an unexpected concurrence, (c) a conditional clause in an agreement, (d) the act of being discreet.

The Doctor Says ...

Painful Joints May Be Just Wearing Out, Not Diseased

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

The end joint of the little finger of the catching hand of many baseball players often becomes enlarged. This is supposed to be the result of being hit many times there by the ball.

The ends of the fingers of other people also enlarge, probably more often and earlier in those who have used their fingers a great deal. Such enlargements carry the name of Heberden's nodes after the distinguished English physician who described them years ago.

Many people, particularly overweight women in their forties or later, develop creaking knees which are stiff and slightly painful. Some have trouble with shoulders, hips, spine, or other joints with grating, soreness and discomfort. This is often called hypertrophic arthritis or osteoarthritis—poor names because inflammation is absent here.

A correspondent has asked whether this comes from lack of certain dietary elements or whether infection is responsible. Diet probably does not enter in except that a good many who develop those joint changes comparatively early in life are overweight from eating too much and consequently have given their spines, hips, knees, and feet too much weight to carry. Obviously over a long period of time this will tend to injure and wear out the joints just as much as hitting them with a baseball, and this is not an inflammation.

IT'S NOT COMFORTING

It isn't too comforting to tell someone who has trouble going up and down stairs that their joints are wearing down. However, it is worth knowing that they will never be seriously crippled and if it gets worse at all, it will be gradually.

The joints of youth cannot be restored and made as good as they were before they were injured by the wear and tear of life.

Relief can be obtained quite often. Reduction of weight helps—an elastic bandage, heat, and a good balance between rest and exercise are measures often used effectively.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WICHITA, Kans.—The people of Kansas are not prudish, but they have a strong sense of political morals and can also be as unpredictable as the cyclones that sweep their prairies. Both may contribute to what could be one of the most surprising political upsets of modern times.

Having kept a bone-dry prohibition statute on their books longer than any other state in the union, having outlawed cigarettes for a considerable period, and having fought the slavery issue easier and more righteously than any other western state, righteous wrath rises readily among Kansans.

Twice in the last two decades Kansas has seen a native son become chairman of the Republican National Committee, and twice folks back home have turned thumbs down on their native son when, because of woman trouble or lobbying trouble, he failed to observe the traditional morals of the home folks.

The latest Kansas boy who became National Chairman, Wesley Roberts, plus the drought, plus farm prices, plus Ezra Taft Benson, is what is whipping up the political cyclone in this normally rock-ribbed Republican state.

VENGEFUL ROBERTS

The Wes Roberts affair shook the Republican party in Kansas to its foundation. To the credit of Kansas leaders it should be noted that it was they and not the White House which forced the issue, exposed the alleged lobbying of the National Chairman and caused Ike to reverse the blessing he had bestowed on the gentleman from Kansas.

But Roberts, having been given the hot-foot out of Washington, is now back in Kansas quietly seeking revenge against the Republicans who contributed to his downfall. This is one of the inside reasons for the split in the Republican party today and why the Democrats might well carry the state if elections were held tomorrow.

Chief objects of Roberts' wrath are Lieut. Gov. Fred Hall; Attorney General Harold Fatzner, the man who conducted the move against him; State Chairman C. I. Moyer and Alvin McCoy, reporter for the Kansas City Star, who first uncovered and had the courage to write the interesting saga of Roberts' lobbying activities.

Lieut. Gov. Hall is conceded the best Republican candidate to run for governor and the best man to beat the Democrats in the general election. If he gets it, however, it will be over the dead body of Wesley Roberts. And Roberts has some powerful friends—namely Sen. Frank Carlson, the kindly political angel who ushered him into the national chairmanship, plus Gov. Ed Arn.

It was Governor Arn who dragged his feet on the Roberts lobbying probe last winter and whose general administration of Kansas affairs has contributed to the down-at-the-heel reputation of the Republican party.

Once before, in 1930, the political cyclones that sweep the Kansas prairies staged an upset that was indicative of things to come. In 1928, Herbert Hoover had defeated Al Smith in a crushing election. Even the solid south had split open to elect Hoover. Some said it would be years before the Democratic party could recover.

But two years later, in 1930, Kansas amazed the nation by going Democrat. Sen. Henry Allen, a close friend of Hoover's, a fine senator, and a former governor of the state was defeated by George Magill, Democrat.

Magill, now a member of the U. S. Tariff Commission, has been surveying the Kansas situation, and he may run again. Whether he does or not, if the Democrats put up a good man and the Republicans continue to fight among themselves, another cyclone may sweep the state.

ONE-PARTY PRESS

Kansas newspapers present what Democrats consider an interesting example of the so-called one-party press.

Officially, at least, there is not one Democratic newspaper of any consequence in the sunflower state. The press has been so intertwined with Republican politics that for many years the late Lacey Haines of the Kansas City Star even masterminded the state GOP.

Many Republican papers, however, such as the Harris group, the papers owned by the Seaton family, the Murdoch family and others have followed the tradition of William Allen White in turning the spotlight on their state's fouled-up political nest. In contrast, Stewart Newlin, editor of the Wellington News and friend of Wes Roberts and Governor Arn, plus some others, believe in a virtual blackout of GOP criticism.

Kansas Democrats, however, are cheered by what happened last week in Wisconsin. They figure that if a Democrat could be elected for the first time in history in a Republican district there with every newspaper opposing him, the same thing could happen in Kansas.

The only one who gets anything for a song these days is the composer.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—C. L. LaChance was appointed by Gov. Kelly to the state tax commission, succeeding Alvin E. Richards, of Marquette, veteran member of the board.

Manistique—Thefts of gas from cars have been unusually numerous of late. There have been several arrests and convictions, but the annoyance keeps up. Police are watching cars where drivers are suspected of using more gas than their ration coupons call for.

Gladstone—James William Berkley has been added to the local school's teaching staff. He will teach English in the ninth and tenth grades and in the high school.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—There is little if any 3.2 beer sold in this area by unlicensed vendors according to a report by Marvin L. Coon manager of the liquor control commission who has recently returned from a tour of the district.

Munising—F. J. Baldwin was elected chairman of the newly created Alger county welfare relief commission.

What Kind Of A War Is This Weird Struggle In Indochina?

CHARGE AND CAPTURE: comme guerilla (left, in civilian peasant clothes is guarded by French Legionnaire after capture in rice paddy outside of village near Ke Sat. By FRED SPARKS
Nea Staff Correspondent
WITH THE FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION in North Indochina (NEA)—All night our cannon fired. I tossed under my mosquito net and was glad when it was light.

I had slept on the ground on a borrowed stretcher next to Pere LaSalle, a heavily bearded French army chaplain. He warned against washing in, let alone drink, the only available water in a nearby stream. It was diseased.

We brushed our teeth with soda water and did not wash, using instead a few drops of Father LaSalle's eau de cologne.

I joined a platoon of French Foreign Legionnaires for the attack near Ke Sat. We breakfasted on sardines, cheese, bread, red wine and coffee. The troops (from many lands) hung grenades on themselves like you decorate a Christmas tree, for with loyal Indo-Chinese units we were to sweep Communist-held towns.

Legionnaire Werner Forster, of Salzburg, Austria, said: "I hope the Vietnamese (Communists) stand and fight. We're sick of this hide-and-seek game. Today you'll see what kind of a war it is in Indochina."

The infantry, well spaced, started across the rice paddies in several files, often sinking so deep they held weapons overhead. They criss-crossed, trying to comb every foot.

The Vietminh, primarily a guerrilla army, even hides under water, breathing through hollow reeds poked above the paddy surface. Concealment was easy, for the rice, ready for harvest, was tall as Iowa corn.

My platoon filed beside light tanks as they crawled on a high-banked road barely wide enough for their tracks.

Legionnaires tapped their rifle butts on the sides of the bank like a doctor tapping a patient's chest. A Communist will dig a man-hole, climb in, then a comrade will pat down a hard dirt covering. The price of carelessness in Indo-China is ambush.

There was a short burst on our right. Legionnaires flushed and captured two guerrillas. They were led to our platoon, marched ahead of me.

We neared the first tiny town, sitting on an elevated dry patch with a stone entrance arch. A machine gun opened on us. I flattened against the side of the bank. The two POWs huddled next to me—Communists trying to dodge Communist bullets.

The tanks fired, smashing part of the arch. The infantrymen crouching, ran forward. Some one shouted in German, "Ludwig!

GLOBAL CORRESPONDENT Fred Sparks (right) makes notes as he talks with Legionnaire during lull in sweep against Reds.

Achtung! Mines." Too late. A Legionnaire stepped on a crude mine packed with rusty nails. A long nail was driven clean through his foot just back of the toes.

The enemy machine gun hushed. Legionnaires poured under the arch, firing. Werner Forster said: "Yah, yah. A delaying action. Just enough to give the Vietminh time to bury their guns and hide or flee to the next town."

The town seemed empty except for a few badly torn bodies. One man was spread-eagled out, a cigarette butt still smoking an inch from his right hand.

Slowly the citizens came from dugouts. They bowed to us, terrified, with hands held in a praying position.

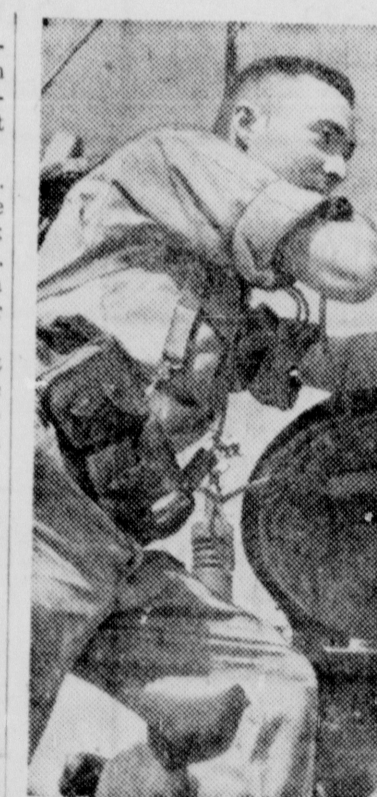

The headman, a patriarch with a long wispy beard on his chin like a cluster of white threats, was ordered by our Indo-Chinese to gather food for two days.

Then the townspeople were single-filed to a giant tree in a field and sat cross-legged under the branches in sullen, passive rows while their papers were checked.

Two young suspects were taken away while women wept in singing rhythm like hysterical children. The citizens would be watched in the open until the operation ended to curb trouble in our rear.

Now there were occasional shots behind us. We had bypassed snipers. We could not see where the shots were coming from and dared not fire blindly for fear of hitting other Legionnaires advancing many yards back.

The next town slowly etched itself against the red, tropical sky. It was a repeat performance; the armed Communists fled, although we knew there was a full battalion in the area. It chose to run away to fight again another day. We paused for lunch, sitting on the slope of a tank. The Legionnaires ignored the occasional wild sniper shots.

Werner Forster tossed biscuits to the POWs, gave me a drink of canteen water, flavored with chlorine and peppermint, and said: "Yah, yah. It is like putting your arm in a bucket of water, then taking it out. We haven't enough troops to garrison this zone. When we pull back the Communists, like water, will return."

"Now you know what kind of a war it is in Indochina."

By CLINT DUNATHAN

ADULT EDUCATION—One of the major objectives of the average American is to improve himself—either as to his position in life or his personal knowledge of the world.

This is the reason for the success of adult education programs here and elsewhere in communities across the nation.

At one time such "night school" courses were largely attended by persons of foreign birth who wanted to learn the English language or improve their use of it. They were valuable in assimilating the people from many lands into the American melting pot.

Today, however, adult education is primarily designed to enrich and broaden the American citizen through an experience that includes the opportunity for fellowship and an exchange of ideas.

VARIETY OF COURSES—Escanaba's director of adult education is a personable young man, Vernon Ihlenfeldt, who has successfully guided the program for the past few years.

One of the attractive features of the adult education program here is the variety of courses offered to the people of the Escanaba area.

There are 20 courses offered this year and additional classes may be formed if there is sufficient interest. These subjects range from conversational French, Swedish and Spanish, to sewing, welding, and piano study.

In this way the adults of the community are assured of finding a class that interests them or meets their particular need.

ONE MAN'S MEAT—Citizens of the community who would like to study Basic Mechanical Drawing and Blue Print Reading may not, for example, be interested one way or another in enrolling in Art Workshop—but they will not call the program valueless for that reason.

Some people who are interested in the instruction class for making Christmas Decorations may not have the slightest inclination toward Slide Rule and Mathematics.

But all of the students in whatever course will agree that what is one man's meat may be another's poison, and just because you love to tinker in Machine Shop there is no reason to throw stones at the people who are happily occupied in Square Dancing.

One of the major accomplishments of adult education is to bring people from many walks of life, from the day laborer to the professional man, into activity connected with a mutual interest—whether it be self-help or recreation.

FOR MANY REASONS—Folks enroll in adult education courses for several reasons, all of them important to the individual.

There is the young married man who wants to be a handyman around the house. He takes Everyday Electricity so that he can fix light switches and wire a floor lamp. His wife goes to school to learn Rug-making.

An elderly lady whose family is grown and moved away decides to return to a pastime of her youth and enrolls in the Piano Study class. She may never outmaneuver Paderewski at the keyboard but the experience will fill her leisure hours with self-made music.

The professional man, well along in middle age, who is occasionally called upon to present a "few well chosen words" and is thrown into a state of nerves because of his inexperience, overcomes the handicap and gains assurance by enrolling in the Speak Easy class.

WHAT THEY WANT—The adult education program is no "give away" so far as finances are concerned. Enrollment fees plus state aid cover nearly all of the cost. The program is sponsored by the Escanaba school district.

Success of the program is the result of widespread interest and resulting participation. This in turn is created by giving the adults of the community the kind of classes they want.

Some classes have been dropped since last year because of the lack of interest and small enrollment. Each class must have at least 10 students. In past years some of the classes were so popular that two teachers were required.

Occasionally there are newcomers to America enrolled in the speech classes. One woman, who came to his country from Sweden, enrolled in Conversational Swedish class—not to learn Swedish but by reverse process to learn English from the other students.

The door to adult education is open. The fee for enrollment is nominal. But if you want to brush up on your typing or welding, here is the opportunity.

Fire Losses Show Increase For Fourth Year In Succession

BOSTON (AP)—The nation's fire losses during 1952 crept toward the billion-dollar mark and increased for the fourth successive year, the National Fire Protection Assn. estimated today.

Preliminary estimates by the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the first eight months of this year indicate an increase of about 17.9 per cent over the same period of 1952.

The NFPA in its quarterly report estimates there were 2,014,600 fires of all types in the United States in 1952, and that they caused a loss of $942,650,000. It reported:

An 18 per cent increase in the number of dwelling fires, a 20 per cent boost in the number of school and college fires, a 15 per cent jump in forest fires, and a 20 per cent upswing in building fires caused by smoking and matches and by lightning.

Selfridge Airmen Accused Of Forgery

DETROIT (AP)—Federal officials today held two Selfridge Air Base airmen for investigation of forging three U. S. Treasury checks.

The men were named as Airmen 3-c Edward R. Brown, 24, of Detroit and T-Sgt. Stanley J. Hungerford, 28, of Eureka, La.

A government spokesman said a third man was sought in connection with the case. It was hinted that a large number of forged government checks may be involved.

Idaho ranks second in national forest land with 21,500,000 acres.

Helmets For Labor's 'Troops' Legion Officials Guests Sunday Of Rapid River Post

When there's potential trouble hanging overhead, it's mighty comforting to have an "umbrella" of safety above you. Replacing the useless paper-stuffed hats of an earlier era, Workers today wear scientifically designed headgear, fashioned to ward off fatal blows, and which is credited with saving many workers in construction or heavy industry from injury or death. The safety hats are made by molding sheets of laminated plastic-impregnated cloth into a hard, strong shell. Smoothly rounded crowns of the hats help deflect falling objects. Overall design is meant to prevent impact of a blow from injuring head, neck and spine. Many of the safety hats will be on exhibit at the National Safety Council in Chicago, Ill., starting October 19.

County Board Acts Tonight On Budget

Delta County Board of Supervisors will meet tonight at 7 in the Courthouse for detailed discussion of the county's 1954 budget.

Chairman Harold Gustafson of Ensign said early this afternoon that the state tax commission's decision is expected this afternoon on the county's appeal from a decision of the Delta County Tax Allocation Board giving county and schools each 7.5 mills of the 15 mills the county can tax property owners.

Gustafson said County Clerk William Butler telephoned the commission's Lansing office this morning. No commission member was in, but a member of the office staff told Butler a decision had been reached. He promised to look it up and phone Butler this afternoon.

The county has been unable to act on its 1954 budget until the tax commission's decision lets the county know how much money it will have to spend.

Sophomore At Ohio Wesleyan Indicted In Sweetheart Slaying

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Roy Roger Schinagle Jr., 19-year-old Ohio Wesleyan University sophomore, was indicted Tuesday on charges of first degree murder in the slaying of his college sweetheart.

The grand jury heard 13 witnesses before indicting the Mayfield Heights, Ohio, youth in the Sept. 17 death of Cynthia Pfeil, 19, of White Plains, N. Y.

Drag Dock Area In Helgemo Search

Authorities dragged the slips at the C&NW ore docks today as the search went on for Emil Helgemo, 68-year-old iron ore handler who disappeared a week ago today, Sheriff William Miron said this morning.

The possibility that the missing man might have fallen into one of 32 pockets at the docks which had not been emptied since he disappeared, vanished last night when ore into the pockets was loaded onto ore boats. No trace of Helgemo was found. Lee McMillan, dock agent, said.

The Str. LeMoyné, last to unload of three ore boats into which Helgemo might have fallen, was

Police Chief Doubts Missing Ransom Was Ever In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell today expressed doubt the missing $300,000 in the Greenleaf kidnapping case ever was brought to St. Louis.

His theory was announced on the third day of a closed-door investigation into reported irregularities in the police handling of the case when the two kidnappers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenleaf were arrested here Oct. 6.

"From what I know so far, I don't think the $300,000 was ever brought here," said O'Connell, who heads the panel of high police officials conducting the inquiry here.

Prison Board Asks For $42,000 Advance To Build Up Guards

LANSING (AP)—The Corrections Commission today asked the State Administrative Board to release $42,000 in advance to bring the guard force at Southern Michigan Prison to full strength.

Prison Warden William H. Bannan reported he was now short 26 guards. He added that the current allocation of money for guard salaries was short $42,000 because of a high turnover in personnel. "It is very dangerous," he said, "to run this place with that kind of a shortage."

Commissioner Talbot Smith of Ann Arbor said a shortage of trained guards was one of the chief reasons for the disastrous riots at the prison last year.

Bannan said he has asked next year's Legislature to increase the guard force at the prison by 94 men.

Upper Peninsula Briefs

MARQUETTE — Approximately 50 administrators and trustees from Upper Michigan hospitals are expected to attend the Upper Peninsula Hospital Council meeting here today. Miss Audrey Shade R. N., superintendent of St. Luke's is in charge of local arrangements for the program.

MARQUETTE — Marquette's bank debit figure dropped during September, but the total was high enough to top those of all other cities in the Upper Peninsula. This city's bank debits amounted to $10,856,000 last month, in contrast to $11,533,000 for September, 1952. That represents a drop of six per cent.

MENOMINEE—Marquette County Judge Wm. F. Haase demanded retraction of a news story carried in Monday's Herald- Leader which stated that through an arrangement between the Menominee and Marquette juvenile courts, Menominee juveniles becoming involved in offenses in Marquette would be "exiled" for one year from Marquette and Marquette youths similarly involved in Menominee would be banned for one year from Menominee.

IRONWOOD—The search for a man wanted for beating an Ironwood girl late Saturday or early Sunday morning continued today near Mud Creek north of Ironwood. Prosecuting Attorney Theodore Albert said today he expected to get a statement from the girl.

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a bit of a sag in the stock market today, but at the same time signs of buoyancy were apparent.

On balance, the stock market was lower with the decline extending into the major fractions. There were a few exceptions. The less frequent gains went to around a point at the best.

Trading wasn't particularly brisk and ran at a rate right around Tuesday's 1,280,000 shares.

Points of steadiness were apparent in the steels, railroads, distiller, aircrafts, radio-televisions, golds and utilities. Losers were in evidence in the motors, coppers and chemicals.

Going down were New York Central, Texas Co., United Air Lines, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, General Electric, American Tobacco, Liggett & Myers (off more than a point at times), Chrysler and Du Pont.

Corporate bonds were higher in quiet trading. U. S. government securities moved narrowly.

Schmitt Brothers Late At Carnegie Hall, But Crowd Asks For More

Those famous Schmitt Brothers of Two Rivers, Wis., who will be in Escanaba Saturday night to appear on the annual Escanaba barbershop harmony concert, turned up late for an appearance at Carnegie Hall in New York last Saturday. They put the blame on a second helping of lobster, and when they started singing the huge crowd cheered and called for more.

Here's the way the story was told by Robert W. Wells of the Milwaukee Journal, staff, who went to New York to hear the fabulous Wisconsin quartet:

Like some temperamental artists who have trod the boards of Carnegie hall, the Schmitt brothers kept a capacity audience waiting Saturday night. But in the case of the four young men from Two Rivers, Wis., it wasn't a matter of temperament. It was the fault of a lobster.

The quartet, which won the 1951 international championship of the Society for the Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, was scheduled for the closing spot on the first half of the society's Carnegie hall jamboree.

Crowd Starts For Exits
The preceding quartet finished its songs and the crowd stirred expectantly, awaiting the visitors from Wisconsin, who have a big following among the lovers of barbershop harmony. But instead of the Schmitts, out came a group called the Jersey Men, which had ostensibly finished its part of the program long before. The Wisconsinites, it was explained, had failed to show up although—as the leader of the Jerseyites put it—“How you can lose four fellows that size beats me.”

The Jersey group sang three songs. Still no Schmitts. Then, in desperation, the leader announced the intermission, adding that he was going to use the 10 minutes to look for the missing quartet.

The Carnegie hall crowd started for the exits, but at once they were called back. The Schmitts, at last, had arrived.

Joe, the tenor and the spokesman for the four brothers, made his apologies. It was the fault, he maintained, of the fine seafood to be obtained, in New York.

“I didn't know,” said Joe who has an appetite to match his size, “that it would take that long to prepare my second lobster.”

Once they had arrived, the fitz could wring from an audience.

Chordettes Sing, Too
Besides the Schmitts, the Badger state was represented by a professional group of singers, the Chordettes, a group of girls mainly from Sheboygan and vicinity who used to be a mainstay on the Arthur Godfrey radio and television shows.

An indication of the enthusiasm of the society's members was given by the size of Saturday night's crowd, which practically filled the big hall. For the quartet singers, there was one added inducement. As Joe Schmitt put it in kidding with the audience:

“Now I can go back and tell my music teacher I sang on the same stage Caruso sang on.”

“And I can tell her,” he added a moment later, “that all you folks applauded.”

In Ancient Egypt, rocks were split by drilling holes in a line and inserting wooden pegs which split the rock after being soaked in water to make them swell, says the National Geographic Society.

EMPTY LOT, BUT SOUL IS FULL—Members of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church in San Diego, Calif., aren't waiting for their church to be erected before they hold their services. They met on the proposed site, the church was marked off in chalk and the worshipers marched in through the “door.” The Rev. George Lokie leads the singing.

Rock Community's Co-op Program Is 40 Years Old

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM

The adage "necessity is the mother of invention" may certainly be applied to a group of residents of Rock and vicinity of 40 years ago. Because they were not satisfied with the way their timber was selling, the Rock Co-operative Company will be celebrating its 40th anniversary on Oct. 28.

Back in 1912-13, miners and other industrial workers from towns up north moved to areas around Rock because of the depression. They either homesteaded or bought a forty or two of timber. When the depression continued, they cut the timber and began farming to earn their living. They were not getting what they thought they should for their timber, so they decided to do something about it.

On Aug. 16, 1913, they held an organization meeting to form their own co-operative, which would sell their timber and products and also supply their consumer goods. Once the idea took root, action followed.

Business Expands
On Oct. 28, thirty-nine members

The Rock Co-operative Company has grown into one of the largest co-operative associations in the Upper Peninsula and is recognized as one of the leading retail institutions. The grand total business volume of the company since its incorporation through 1952 was $13,316,000, with net savings of $364,000 returned to its members and patrons. The total assets of the Co-operative today amount to over $300,000, reports General Manager Ahti Waak. In 1952 the sales of the co-operative were $601,000, compared with the total business volume of $28,762 in 1914, first full year in operation.

Serves Community
In the winter of 1944, the company's main store burned. Because of difficulties brought on by the war, it took about a year before the present modern store was completed on the same site as the previous store. It opened for business on February 23, 1945, fire-proof, air-conditioned, up-to-date, semi-self service which came to cost over $40,000.

It supplies nearly all of the every day needs for about 95% of its members as well as many other patrons. It is owned by the member patrons, operated by the member patrons with equal vote for the good of the members and patrons. Undoubtedly it is one of the most democratic institutions known, being operated along the Rochdale principles.

Among those who are working in the store at the present are Mrs. Roy Johnson, bookkeeper; Mrs. John Seppanen, clothing department; Mrs. Morely Roberts, cashier; William Johnson, meat department; Arne Roine, hardware department.

Onni Johnson, head of the timber

SATURDAY PROGRAM
The 40th anniversary celebration of the Rock Co-operative Company will be held at Rock High School gymnasium on Saturday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m.

J. W. Koski, general manager of the Central Co-operative Wholesale of Superior, Wis., will speak during the evening's entertainment. A dance at the Lions club will climax the program.

Much of the program will be repeated in the Finnish language at the Finn Hall on Sunday, Oct. 25, at 8 p. m. The public is invited to both programs.

department reports that the timber business is still an important business, just as it was forty years ago.

Garage, Insurance
A new warehouse was built in 1946, Nels Koski handles the feed and feed grinding department. Vic Freeman is in charge of the trucking and farm machinery, with Nick Broeder as farm machinery salesman.

The garage which was across the road from the store was destroyed by fire in the spring of 1950. It was rebuilt that same year on the same side of the road as the store. The modern garage is under the management of Roy Johnson. It also includes the chain saw department and service station. Employed in the garage are Emil Koski, Marvin Kivekas and Orval Lehto.

The Upper Peninsula Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company was established in Rock in 1915 largely through the action of the membership of the Rock Co-operative company. Present secretary-manager is Arne Johnson.

Wholesale Affiliate
It is also a member of the Northland Co-operative Federation, Inc., of Rock, which deals in petroleum products. Sulo Peltola is the manager of this department with Arnold Sayen as salesman for the Rock area and Hill as salesman for Eben-Chatham area.

Since 1925, the Rock Co-operative company has been affiliated with the Central Co-operative Wholesale of Superior, Wis., which acts as a wholesale for the co-operatives in the North Central states.

And so from a humble beginning caused by a necessity, a modern business celebrates its 40th anniversary.

Congratulations to the ROCK CO-OP CO. on its 40th ANNIVERSARY

Our congratulations to the management and members of the Rock Co-operative Company on 40 years of successful operation. We, the undersigned firms, extend our heartiest best wishes for many, many more years of prosperous business.

Saigon, French Indo-China, Has Attractions For Congressmen

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON (CQ) — Airport attendants at Saigon, French Indo-China have seen more Congressmen in the last four months than many Americans see in a lifetime.
The law-and-policy makers of the United States apparently believe Indo-China is the world's most critical spot, judging from the parade of Congressmen landing at Saigon. Actually, however, they are not neglecting other countries. "Flying squads" of Congressman have poked into faraway places all over the free world, and even have attempted occasional peeks behind the Iron Curtain.
At Saigon, the influx started April 13 when four members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee's Special Study Mission to Asia arrived to make an appraisal of America's Mutual Security program. In June, Sens. Everett
M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Warren
G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) arrived on a similar mission. Then in August, Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.) of a House Subcommittee on Army appropriations made his appearance, not only to check up on the Mutual Security Program but to see how the Army was spending the money in Asia.
Senators Were Coming
Just as things were getting back to normal in Saigon, Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) landed on Sept. 11 to look over matters military, Mutual Security, diplomatic and political. He was followed 10 days later by Sen.

Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) who arrived to inspect Point Four projects and the State Department's information services.
When American politicians weren't flying, rumors of their impending arrival were. Indo-China is on the October itinerary of a Special House Armed Services
Subcommittee, and of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. And in November, Indo-China is scheduled to be visited by members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.
But if the baggage porter at Saigon thinks he has witnessed the sum total of Congressional overseas investigations, he's mistaken.
Members and committees which made the Saigon stop had other destinations on their tickets, and other groups have combed many of the non-Communist nations.
27 Overseas Tours
Since March, 1953, Congressional Quarterly has listed 28 official overseas Congressional investigations, tours and inspections, either completed, in progress or planned. Ten of the 28 are concerned with military matters, 11 with foreign aid (three overlap into both those categories), three with immigration, and seven covering other matters.
In the "other matters" category are such divergent things as a

Central and South American trip to gather information on the Export-Import bank, a study of Puerto Rico's agriculture, a survey of European ship-building methods and a Virgin Islands jaunt to consider the revision of the Organic Act.
Perhaps one of the longest trips undertaken this season by the Congressional globe-trotters was the 46,000-mile, 20-nation trip
just completed by Sen. Allen J.
Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee. Ellender, who inspected American embassies and Point Four projects on his world-wide trip, reported Oct.
6 to Harold Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration.
Overseas information-gathering trips, often called "junkets" have frequently been criticized by the press and by Congressmen themselves as "joy-rides" whose end result is the production of "hot air." Coming to the "partial defense of the Congressional junket," Rep. D. Bailey Merrill (R-Ind.) said Oct. 2 in a newsletter that if Congressmen were to make world wide decisions, they needed world-wide knowledge.
If some Congressmen make fools of themselves, Merrill said, the solution is not to abolish the investigating trips but "just don't send a fool to Congress."

Writer Cites Jim Williams' 'Out Our Way' Humor

JIM WILLIAMS AT HIS DRAWING BOARD, surrounded by some of his famous OUT OUR WAY characters; the mother of "Why Mothers Get Gray;" Curly the cowboy; a group of his kids; the Worry Wart; the Bull of the Woods.

By NEA Service
NEW YORK — (NEA)—America's best beloved comic artist, J. R. Williams, is the subject of a Saturday Evening Post article in the magazine's Oct. 24 issue, written by Richard Thruelsen, associate editor of the Post.

Williams is the man who created OUT OUR WAY, one of the most popular newspaper comics of all time and a regular feature of the Escanaba Daily Press. He has often been called the Will Rogers of the comic pages.

Jim Williams went to work for NEA Service (Newspaper Enterprise Association) back in 1922, fresh from a machinist's job in Alliance, O. His drawings now appear in approximately 750 daily newspapers and 325 Sunday papers.

Writes Thruelsen, who interviewed Williams in his palatial home just outside Pasadena, Calif.: "What makes Jim Williams' cartooning unique is not its longevity or its popularity... but its apparent simplicity. For three decades Williams has been entertaining a constantly growing audience with his observations on the commonplaces of American life—the joys of boyhood in a small town, the exacerbations of middle-class family living, the earthy humor which lightens the routine of a working ranch, and the lunch-pail philosophy which animates our factories and machine shops.

"Williams has never employed the suspense of a running narrative to hold his audience and he has always avoided the sexy heroines, the space ships and the slapstick situations which characterize many of the strip cartoons on the comic pages. The typical Williams panel is a compound of gentle caricature, homespun philosophy and nostalgia for the days before this century came of age."

Before he began his career as a cartoonist, Jim Williams' life had been an almost unbelievable record of adventure and excitement. He has been railroad fireman, cowboy, mule-skinner, cavalryman, prize fighter, policeman, machinist. All this is still a part of him. It forms the philosophy and background without which there probably never would have been an OUT OUR WAY.

Tears that prevented a tragedy

Operator Lorraine De Lore knew something was wrong when she answered the signal. At first she heard nothing but a baby crying. Seconds later she heard the receiver drop, and then a woman moaning. She called Service Assistant Gloria Jean DeBri.

Quickly the Service Assistant called telephone repair service and got the address where the telephone was off the hook. Then she notified the police and a doctor.

When police arrived, they found Mrs. Barbara Verseput just regaining consciousness. Her four-month-old baby was still crying nearby. Police called Mrs. Verseput's husband and, when he arrived, took her to the hospital.

Later, Mrs. Verseput described what had happened. Weakened by recent illness, she started to telephone the doctor but passed out. She remembered nothing until the police arrived. Mr. Verseput said that if it hadn't been for the alertness of the two telephone girls who overheard his child crying, his wife might have died.

Here is another example of the quick thinking of telephone people that has often meant the difference between life and death.

It's Mighty Dry Out in Kansas

Dick Hawthorne, above, editor of the Jamestown (Kan.) Optimist, examines skeletons of fish which cover the bottom of dried-up Sportsman Lake, near Jamestown, Kan. The arid scene provides graphic proof of the effect of last summer's drought. Meanwhile, Olathe, Kans., faced with a water famine, starts importing the first of many truckloads of water to store at its utility plant. The water was trucked in from Gardner, Kan., about 11 miles away.

Gambler Can't Get Back His $600 Bribe

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — After serving a sentence for bribery, Emmet Caraker went to court in an attempt to get back $600 he said he paid two officers in the belief he was buying protection for his numbers racket.

The contract was not binding because the officers did not live up to the bargain, and consequently the money should be returned. Judge Roy H. Amidon turned down the request. The money has been handed over to the state.

In the days of sailing ships, some superstitious sailors feared to go to sea in a ship which did not have a figurehead.

Edison Earnings Up

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Edison Co. said today net earnings for the 12 months through Sept. 30 totaled $20,946,693 or $1.97 a share on 10,629,793 shares of outstanding stock. This compared with $16,119,239 or $1.62 a share on 9,924,023 shares for the same period the year before.

Yugoslavs Anxious To Learn English

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — Increasing economic and social cooperation between Yugoslavia and the west have generated a heavy demand for English language schools, one here and another in Sarajevo, for intensified training, using the audio-visual method of teaching.

A contract for the project has been reached between the government and the Foreign Language Institute of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C. It will be financed by technical assistance funds of the United States Foreign Operations Administration.

Philippine Rice Crop Bumper One

MANILA (AP) — The Philippines 1952-53 rice production exceeds by several million bushels the island's pre-war record harvest, the Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources reports. The department said the harvest for 1952-53 was more than 147 million bushels.

The report gave credit to the U. S. Mutual Security Agency and its Philippine counterpart for the increase.

Early Turkish gardeners were first to develop the tulip from wild flower to garden beauty and give it the name "Tulband" (turban), says the National Geographic Society. The flowers were brought to Europe in 1554 by the Austrian Ambassador to the Turkish Sultan and introduced into Holland by Dutch herbalist Clusius, court gardener to the Austrian Emperor.

Port Of Cadiz Opens To American Warships

WASHINGTON—Cadiz, Spain's Atlantic port which may soon be opened to American warships under the recently concluded U. S.-Spanish defense pact, served as home base for Christopher Columbus when he sailed for the New World.

Announcement of the new agreement, just prior to the 461st anniversary of Columbus' arrival in the New World on October 12, grants the United States the right to use a number of Spanish air and naval bases, in return for military and economic aid. The accord extends for 10 and possibly 20 years.

Seville, Madrid and Barcelona are regarded as probable airbase sites. In addition to Cadiz, other U. S. naval bases may be established at El Ferrol on the Bay of Biscay, Cartagena, Valencia and Cannaries on all four of his voyages. Long considered the western limit of the world by ancient geographers, the Canaries developed a new stock from the intermingling of Old and New World people pioneering Atlantic crossings.

Bahamas Landfall
San Salvador, an island in the Bahamas, was the first land reached by Columbus in the New World. He went ashore at several other points in the Bahamas on his initial voyage and also discovered Cuba and Hispaniola. The latter island now comprises the Dominican Republic and the Republic of Haiti.

Three galleons and 14 frigates, manned by 1,500 sailors, made up the second and largest Columbus expedition, in 1493. On this voyage he discovered the Virgin Islands, Leeward Islands, Puerto Rico and Jamaica. One thousand colonists debarked at Hispaniola to establish the first European colony in the New World.

Hoping to find more gold than his first trips had collected, Columbus sailed farther south on this third voyage in 1498. He landed at Trinidad and later, for the first time, set foot on the continent of South America. The admiral's fourth and last trip added Honduras and Panama to his list of New World Discoveries.

Only Tortoise Boasts Longer Life Than Man

WASHINGTON—Who lives the longer, man or beast? Discovery of an authentic 129-year-old tortoise in Rhode Island has revived the ancient controversy.

Man's life span exceeds that of any animal except the tortoise, says the National Geographic Society. Next to man's 70 to 100 years or more, the elephant has the greatest longevity among mammals—45 to 70 years. A poor third is the rhinoceros, with an average 36 to 50 years of life.

Gorillas and other large apes may live to 35, longer than many aborigines. Whales, largest of the mammals, have been known to live for more than 30 years, but positive figures on their life expectancy are lacking. The lion, long hailed as the king of beasts, has a comparatively short reign of 20 to 30 years.

Centenarian Turtles
Greatest span of positive record is 152 years for a turtle captured on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius in 1766. St. Helena Island in the South Atlantic claims a 178-year-old land tortoise, reputedly the only living link with Napoleon who lived there in exile from 1815 to 1821. Definite proof of its age is lacking, however. Giant tortoises of the Galapagos Islands are known to live for more than a century.

Among domesticated animals, the horse holds age honors. It lives from 20 to 35 years. Cows rarely live beyond 25. Dogs live 5 to 15 years, occasionally 20. Cats—ones that live well—have a span of only 7 to 15 years, despite their mythical nine lives.

Patriarch of the fish family is the carp, some of which have been known to frequent quiet ponds for 60 to 75 years. Trout, bass and perch rarely reach 15 years of age, minnows less than 5.

Parrots share with ostriches, eagles and vultures the longevity record among birds—up to 60 years. Canaries rarely exceed 25; robins, 12; and starlings, 8.

Adult life of many insects is reckoned merely in hours. Most durable are queen ants which may reach 16, and queen bees which sometimes live 5 or more years. Part of the secret of a queen bee's long life seems to be a jelly, rich in special nutrients, which is secreted from the glands of worker bees and fed to the queen.

A mouse can exist for as long as 5 years if it stays out of feline reach. The maximum age for a fox is about 12; deer and beavers may live 15 years. Span of squirrels and rabbits is 8 to 12 years. Pigs and sheep can reach 20.

Other reptiles are babes compared to the tortoise. Record for the alligator is 43. Snakes are even shorter-lived; their record is 21 years.

Light, bright scarlet is a better color than yellow for rafts, lifeboats, life-preservers, and other air and sea rescue gear, Navy researchers find. The bright scarlet can be seen at greater distances than the chrome yellow now in use.

Homes of the Famous-14

1833. The JUMEL MANSION, New York City. Built 1765.

AP Newsfeatures

A new, revolutionary spirit in building with a new principle expressing it, was originated in Italy by Andrea Palladio, spread through France into England and, by 1700, had reached America. Heretofore, most houses were built in accordance with the purpose each was to serve, with utility outweighing beauty, while this new style advocated building with strict regard to a symmetrical exterior appearance. Wealthy Americans were now able to give attention to gracious living, and to beauty as well as utility. So "Good Architecture" became standardized from Maine to Georgia. Books on architecture were published and eagerly read by prospective builders. The Jumel Mansion, a classic descendent of this style, was built in 1765 by Robert Morris for his bride, Mary Philipse; later was George Washington's headquarters; from 1810, was the home of Madame Jumel, who entertained in regal style, and in 1833, of her second husband, Aaron Burr. This splendid edifice, now open to the public, is one of the three surviving Pre-Revolutionary buildings on Manhattan Island.

Australia Leads In Rainmaking Research

BRISBANE (AP)—Australia now leads most countries of the world in rainmaking research, says Dr. Edward G. Bowen, 42-year-old rainmaking expert of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization (CSIRO). Dr. Bowen leads a team of 20 scientists that has made rain fall nearly 200 times.

He said to a reporter in Brisbane: "There is no doubt that we can make rain fall from clouds when we want it. The problem now is to make it fall over a large area at an economic cost. We hope to solve that within the next decade."

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. ### Radar To Check Speeding Cars

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—You won't be able to dispute with Fayette County patrolmen about how fast you were driving when their cars are equipped with radar.

Patrol cars, equipped with the device, will operate on roads, preceded and followed by check cars. Motorists' speed will be registered as they pass through a 150x40-foot screen and descriptions of speeding vehicles will be radioed to check cars.

Anti-Gout Shots May Be Given

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Louis Granirer reports finding an anti-gout substance in blood obtained from women after child-birth. Few women suffer from gout, and never have the ailment during pregnancy. Dr. Granirer isolated the anti-gout substance from women's blood, gave it to eight men with gout. Seven quickly improved, and had no new attacks for three to eight months.

Miss Ruth Bard, John D. Edick Repeat Vows

Miss Ruth McNichol Bard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bard of 110 Bainbridge Ave., Thornton, N. Y., became the bride of John David Edick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Edick, 819 Lake Shore Drive, Saturday, Oct. 10.

Dr. Edward I. Campbell officiated at the 4 p. m. nuptial ceremony in the Pleasantville Presbyterian Church, Pleasantville, N. Y. Following the service, a dinner and reception were held at St. John's Parish House on Sunnyside Ave., Pleasantville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon net with a matching lace jacket. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held by a wreath of white velvet leaves. Lace mitts complementing the jacket completed the bride's attire. She carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Sister Is Attendant

A sister of the bride, Mrs. John LeVentis of Thornwood, N. Y., was matron of honor. She was attired in a gown of sapphire blue nylon net with a matching velvet jacket. Her mitts were of tulle edged with velvet. She also wore a wreath of velvet leaves complementing her gown and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Carl G. Nelson of Cleveland, Ohio, served as Mr. Edick's best man. Acting as ushers were John Le Ventis and Eric Nordstrom of Thornwood.

The mother of the bride attended the wedding in a plum crepe dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was fashioned of pink baby chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of aqua blue wool with black accessories and a yellow rosbud corsage.

Home In Euclid

The newlyweds are making their home at 1486 East 260 St., Euclid, Ohio, following a honeymoon trip through New England.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of the University of Michigan. Mr. Edick a graduate of the department of engineering, holds a position with the Reliance Electric and Engineering Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Edick and daughter, Mary, attended the wedding.

MRS. JOHN DAVID EDICK, the former Ruth McNichol Bard, was married at a ceremony in the Pleasantville Presbyterian Church at Pleasantville, N. Y. The newlyweds are making their home at Euclid, Ohio.

Obtain Girdle First Is Rule

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The mature woman, planning a new fall wardrobe, is likely to get best results by first making certain that her foundation garment is the proper fit and appropriate to the new silhouette.

The theory of buying foundations first applies to everyone, but particularly to the older woman whose flesh is not as firm as it was 10 or 15 years ago.

The ideal choice for the woman who needs diaphragm control as well as bosom uplift is the long line brassiere which fits to the waistline.

The four-section garment is the best type of girdle for the mature figure. Fabric sections at the side and back alternating with elastic panels afford freedom of movement with firm control.

Perfect for the slim-fitting silhouette which fashion has decreed for fall is the all-in-one garment. If you do not have a weight problem, you might try a pull-on corselet that's predominantly elastic. Should you require more control, choose the kind that has both elastic and fabric panels, with zipper fastening.

Also available now are half-size corselets proportioned to the short-waisted woman, who measures 18 inches or less from underarm to waist.

family in which the Chapel Aid is interested.

Shine up your best broom and get set for a midnight ride with goblins, ghosts and goons. Halloween is an eerie time for witches and their pals.

If your crowd doesn't have a party but once a year, Halloween is the time. It lends itself to enchanting decorations inside and out. And the autumn chill makes food taste better.

Plan spook-to-spook hookup by getting the outside decked out in haunted house fashion. Black crepe paper may be put over the windows so that the entrance looks pretty grim, and when the guests enter the house a horrible clanging of bells might ensue. (Borrow a fire bell or ship's captain's bell from a friendly neighbor.) Engage the services of local small fry to assist you on the outdoor scene. The kids adore scaring their elders on a night like this, so let them participate to their heart's content. Dressed in appropriate masks and or sheets and costumes kids may hide behind rocks, barn, garage, house or up in the trees. Tarzan-types may sit in trees which must be passed by on the way to the house and unroll sheet-ghosts, witches or goblins to bring shivers to the spines of the guests.

At the gate two pumpkins may glower in eerie contentment. If gate posts are flat, pumpkins may rest on them. Otherwise put your pumpkins on long poles, about the weight of broom sticks and put them in the ground. To keep a big heavy pumpkin from sliding down the pole, put wooden pegs or nails a piece of twine across the cellar and hang cold spaghetti from it—just low enough so it brushes across the forehead and face. Other ideas may be scared up, depending on your little helpers.

If you live in a house with a roomy cellar, you can really scare your guests skinny. Make the cellar the party entrance, keeping it dark—and full of surprises. Stretch around the pole directly under the pumpkin.

In the corner of the cellar, for instance, a kid may stand on a step ladder which has been draped with a sheet or black witches robe. If he wears the proper mask and there is another kid to flashlight the witch's face at the right moment, your giant witch will get the party off to a screaming start in the house.

By the time your guests get upstairs they will be all set for fun. A real old-fashioned Halloween party can't be beaten. So why not have bobbins for apples, apples on a string and fortunes in a cake?

The apples rather than the cake may contain the fortunes. Let these be intriguing with such predictions as "a certain senior has eyes only for you" or "before the week is out you will meet your fate." Unless you have a separate container of apples for boys and girls, the fortunes should apply to either.

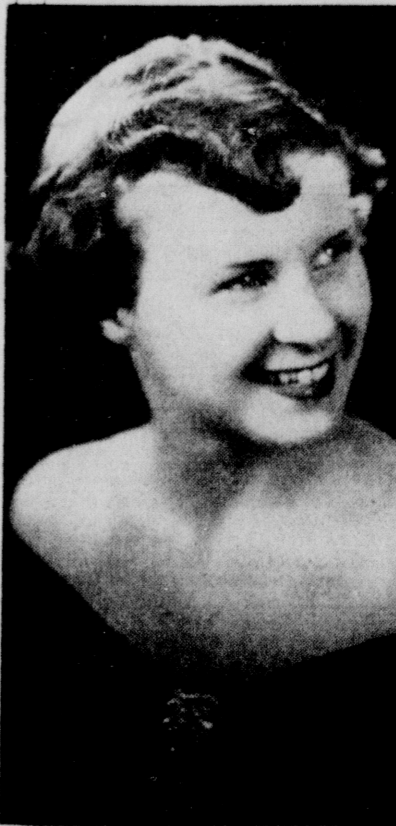

Hang apples in the doorway, offering prizes for those who can bite into a swinging apple suspended by string without using their hands.

The Rock River P. T. A. held its second meeting of the year at the high school. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Michael Malnor, president, the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. George Kallio, secretary, and the treasurer reported $419.05 in the bank and $4 on hand. A report on the carnival plans was made by Mrs. C. R. Little, Jr., and Mrs. Russell Horwood was named general chairman. The date which was set for Nov. 13. It was voted that 50 percent of the net proceeds from booths sponsored by high school classes will be returned to the class.

Parents were registered, and Mrs. Christofferson's room received the prize of $3 for having the largest number of parents present. The money is to be spent to purchase games for the room.

Mrs. Waterman, the new commercial teacher, was presented.

Mrs. William Niemi, Mrs. Tauno Pantti, and Mrs. Hilda Trelford were selected to assist Mrs. Christofferson in planning programs for the remainder of the year. When the business meeting was ended members and guests adjourned to the gym to see movies of the Helsinki games and some travel scenes taken in Europe by Judge Richard Nebel of Munising on his European travel trip last year. About 200 persons were present for the movies. After the movies Judge Nebel displayed some of the souvenirs he collected in Finland. Lunch was served in the home-making room. Mrs. Frank Ritoia was chairman of the lunch committee.

If there is a door in your home that will not open all the way because of furniture, you have an accident hazard. A little extra planning can rearrange the furniture and avoid bruised knees, bumped heads or broken watch crystals.

Start Building For Future Now

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Teen-agers, have you ever noticed how many articles are devoted to telling women how to relax? They may not seem to apply to you, but, really, in a very special way, they do.

The tensions that people build up through the years usually have their beginnings in adolescence when the tempo of life suddenly steps up. School work gets harder, social life vastly more complicated and all the while your bodies are undergoing great changes.

The wonderful energy that you have carried over from childhood may give you a false sense of security about your ability to take all this in your stride. But time will tell. Not too many years from now you may suddenly discover that you are always tired, washed-out nervous. Then it will take lots of pampering of your body and lots of work to learn how to relax.

You can avoid such a situation simply by using common sense. But not overdoing anything now, you will be able to continue to do everything for years and years.

Absolutely nobody has an endless supply of energy and good health, so conserve them. Do not allow yourself to go too deeply into anything — studies, dates or sports.

Confine dating to week-ends; reserve after-class time for outdoor exercise, and week nights for study, with a bit of time out for a good book on TV.

Bound To Court After Hearing

Following preliminary examination yesterday in the court of Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg, William LaCrosse, 27, 511 Dakota Ave., Gladstone, was bound over to circuit court to stand trial on a charge of taking indecent liberties with a minor girl.

Bond was set at $1,000 to assure his appearance at the next term of circuit court and LaCrosse was released.

The minor girl, State Trooper Robert Peterson and the defendant testified during the hearing. A statement signed by LaCrosse in the presence of four police officers in which LaCrosse admitted taking liberties with the young girl was introduced in evidence over the objections of Atty. Clair J. Hoehn, Gladstone defense counsel.

Sohlberg Saturday afternoon to answer charges of leaving the scene of a property damage accident and driving with an operator's permit, Eugene Pracy, Rock, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $4.30 on the first count and costs of $4.30 on the second.

Sugar Production Camps Market

MANILLA (AP)—An official of the National Federation of Sugarcane Planters says the world sugar market faces a bleak future due to over-production. Dr. Jose Mirasol, executive secretary and technical adviser of the federation, declared world sugar production this year is far ahead of consumption. Mirasol, who attended the Eighth World Congress of the International Society of Sugar Technologists in the British West Indies, declared it was too early to determine the effect of this trend on the Philippine sugar industry.

Fred Moran Has Heart Attack

Fred Moran, Gladstone City Police Officer, suffered a heart attack late Tuesday afternoon and was taken to St. Francis Hospital by ambulance. His condition later was reported to be fair.

Jones Reelected Golf Club Head

James T. Jones was reelected as president, O'Neil D'Amour as vice president and Charles Hoffos as secretary-treasurer of the Gladstone Golf Club at the annual meeting held Monday evening at the City Hall.

Preceding the naming of officers three directors were named by ballot of the club membership. They are William Blake, Kurt Soderberg and Dr. B. H. Skellenger.

President Jones went over the work program for the year. It included construction of new tees on No. 2 and No. 5 with others planned if there is still time.

There was filling and rip-rapping the bank of the Days River on No. 5 across from the tee where erosion from the river had occurred. Much fill has been placed and more will be in the hole on the north side of No. 8.

Rock has been bulldozed out of Days River on the line of the No. 6 fairway and there has been considerable underbrushing and cleaning out.

Expansion of the clubhouse facilities to include locker and shower rooms was authorized by the club and this work probably will be done early next spring after details have been decided.

Reports of Treasurer Hoffos showed the financial condition of the club to be sound.

Rallies To Be Held At Mission Church

Missionary rallies are scheduled to be held in the Mission Covenant church on Thursday and Saturday evenings this week.

Thursday evening Miss Ann Berg, recently returned from the Belgian Congo, will speak. This meeting is under the auspices of the Fellowship of the church. Refreshments will be served.

Saturday evening at 7:45 the Rev. Joseph Danielson, Secretary of Home Missions of the Covenant Church of America, will be the speaker.

This meeting is a district rally and will be attended by representatives from Escanaba, Hantahville, Ishpeming, Negaunee and Gladstone.

The meetings are a part of a Conference Wide series of Missionary Rallies being held in the Great Lakes area this week.

Golf Party For Ladies Postponed

Owing to many conflicting activities, the Ladies' Night party which men of the Golf Club were planning for Saturday, Oct. 24, has been postponed indefinitely.

At the annual meeting of the Golf Club Monday night the committee in charge expressed regrets that the party could not be held on the date set, but assured members that the event will be re-scheduled.

Coal—by the ton

There are standards

for advertising,
too!

Lumber—by the foot

Wheat—by the bushel

Land—by the acre

Gasoline—by the gallon

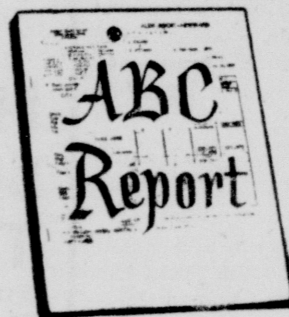

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. ## In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

This is the week in which the Upper Peninsula high school football season sings the first chorus of its annual swan song . . . Many U.P. schools have already concluded their grid campaigns for 1953 . . . And almost all of them will finish this weekend . . . Only Soo, Ironwood, Escanaba and Menominee have games remaining after Saturday . . . Escanaba plays Ironwood here Oct. 31. Soo plays host to Petoskey Oct. 30 and Menominee is host to Marinette in the U.P. finale on Oct. 7.

Fred Barry, the Calumet halfback flash, scored all 14 points as his team defeated Negaunee 14-12 last weekend . . . That boosts his season total to 94 points . . . Calumet has scored 110 points as a team . . . Against Negaunee, Barry carried for 229 of the 278 Calumet yardage on the ground.

Keith Forsberg, new coach at Munising whose Mustangs edged the St. Joe Trojans 7-6 here Friday night, had nothing but praise for Coach Tom St. Germain's gridders . . . "The flashiest I've seen all season," was his opinion of the Trojan backfield.

When Ontonagon beat L'Anse 47-0 Saturday to clinch the Western U.P. Conference championship it marked the first league crown won by Ontonagon in the 14 years it has been a member of the circuit . . . Other members of the Western U.P. Conference are Wakefield, Hancock, L'Anse, Lake Linden, Houghton and Baraga.

The name of George Gipp, one of the Upper Peninsula's most famous football players, was placed in the Football Hall of Fame at halftime ceremonies at the Notre Dame-Pittsburgh game Saturday . . . Gipp joins other football immortals in the Hall of Fame at Rutgers University.

Friday night's game at Calumet will give observers a chance to compare the talents of two of the outstanding backfield candidates for Upper Peninsula honors . . . The Ironwood Red Devils will present their star fullback, Pat Cvenkros, against Calumet's flashy halfback, Fred Barry . . . Cvenkros is a 6-foot, 200-pound power runner while Barry stands 5-7 and weighs 150 pounds . . . He's rated one of the best open field runners going this season.

Iron Mountain fans should be resigned to losing football games to Iron River via the field goal method . . . Gary Drake turned the trick Saturday by booting a 22-yarder to give Coach Harry Monson's Redskins a 16-14 margin late in the game . . . Back in 1947 Iron River's great fullback, Frank Kopenski, hoisted one 38 yards in the last minute of play to beat the Mountaineers 3-0 . . . Kopenski went on to Marquette University where he starred as a fullback.

When Escanaba and Gladstone resume their lengthy football rivalry on the Eskymo gridiron Saturday afternoon, the visiting Braves will be seeking to snap a six-year victory drought . . . The last time Gladstone defeated Escanaba on the gridiron was in 1946 by a 26-14 score . . . Closest the Braves have come since that time was a 7-7 deadlock in 1949.

ST. GERMAIN OUT OF ACTION—The St. Joe Trojans will be in action Friday night in the 1953 grid finale, but Coach Tom St. Germain will be idle. The Trojans wrap up the football season against Niagara Friday night. The St. Joe mentor is convalescing at St. Francis Hospital after an appendix operation performed last Thursday. ## Final Grid Game For St. Joe Friday Night

The St. Joe Trojans, smarting from a 7-6 setback from Munising last week, will close out the 1953 football campaign here Friday night at 9 against the Niagara Badgers.

Last Friday night the Trojan gridders took the field against a highly-regarded Mustang eleven, determined to notch a win for their coach, Tom St. Germain, grid and cage mentor, was hospitalized after an appendix operation performed at St. Francis Hospital Thursday.

The Trojans ran wild against Munising and completely outclassed their opponents in everything but the score. It took a last minute touchdown to narrow the final margin to 7-6.

At Full Strength

Working under reserve coach Bob Dufour and assistant varsity coach Dom Biagioli, the Trojans this week are determined to wipe out the memory of that defeat against the Badgers. They will also be shooting to match the records of the 1951 and 1952 Trojan teams that won six games and lost two. The 1953 Trojans enter the finale with five wins and two defeats.

The Trojans will be at full strength this weekend with all regulars slated for starting assignments. In the line will be Dick Cass and John Berrigan at ends, Stan Venne and Leroy Villeneuve at tackles, Bob Rademacher and Dick Moreau at guards, Arnold Henriksen at center, Jerry McDonough at quarterback, Bill Lancourt and Gary Guertin at halfbacks and Bill Maycunich at fullback.

Playing Last Game

Eleven Trojan seniors will be playing their final games Friday night. Due to graduate this year are Cass, Maycunich, McDonough, Rademacher, Moreau, Guertin, Venne, Ron Boisseneau, Dick Bryson, Leon Mileski and Frank Collins.

Coach Jack Taylor's Badgers come here Friday with a record of one win, one tie and four losses. They have been defeated by Kingsford, Gillett, Lena and Crystal Falls. They tied Norway and defeated Coleman. The Friday night game will also close their 1953 schedule.

Make Plans Tonight For 'Hockey Feed'

The Escanaba Hockey Association will meet at the Escanaba Elks Club at 7:30 this evening to make plans for the "hockey feed" to be served at the People's Cafe from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Other plans for the coming season also will be discussed, including advance season ticket sales, improvement of seating facilities, program, procurement of additional equipment and other matters.

The Escanaba Hawks will compete with Portage Lake, Marquette and Calumet in Northern Michigan Hockey League play and also will play at least two exhibition games against the Canadian Soo Algoma sextet.

Notre Dame Tackle Is Lineman Of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Varrichione, a husky 205-pound tackle for Notre Dame who contributed a key play in the Irish triumph over Pitt on Saturday, was picked today as the lineman of the week by The Associated Press.

The play that earned Frank the coveted weekly honor came in the third period. Pitt held a surprising 14-7 lead. After the kickoff a penalty shoved the Panthers back to their two. Bobby Epps tried to run the ball from behind his own goal line, but big Frank broke through and smeared the Pitt player for a safety.

That gave Notre Dame two points and put the Irish in a position where a touchdown would put them ahead instead of merely tying. The Irish went on to a 23-14 victory.

Stanford Quarterback Rated Back Of Week

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Bob Garrett, Stanford T-quarterback whose spectacular passing to an upset win over strong UCLA last week earned the Associated Press back of the week rating.

Bob completed 18 of 27 passes for 196 yards, with 13 of 17 coming in three touchdown drives.

Illini Soph Setting Torrid Rushing Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—J. C. Caroline, Illinois sophomore, is setting a ball carrying pace exceeded only once in the history of major college football.

Statistics released today by the N.C.A.A. Service Bureau revealed Caroline as the nation's top runner with 668 yards in four games for an average of 167 a game. Only San Francisco's Ollie Matson, who set the record of 174 a game as a senior in 1951, has done better. At the end of four games that season, Matson's average was 171.

But Matson wasn't playing in as fast company as the 20-year-old from Columbia, S.C., who ripped off 142 yards against Nebraska, 129 against Stanford, 192 against Ohio State and 205 against Minnesota.

Caroline has carried the ball 80 times, a 20-per-game average that makes him the busiest as well as the most effective runner in the country. His average of 8.35 yards per try is best among the frequent ball carriers.

He is 129 yards ahead of second place Dick Imer of Montana, who has played one more game, and 285 ahead of the nearest man with four games—eight place Bob Watkins of Ohio State.

Caroline's running also has put him as high as fourth place in total offense and none of the three men above him have been able to average as much yardage by running and passing as he has just by running with the pigskin.

Colorful Gridiron Rivalry To Be Resumed

Braves Play Here Saturday

One of the Upper Peninsula's most colorful inter-school grid rivalries will be resumed on the Escanaba High School athletic field Saturday afternoon at 2 when the Eskymos play host to the Gladstone Braves.

Escanaba enters the Saturday game with a heavy edge in the series that began in 1899. Since that year the teams have met 42 times, with the Eskymos winning 32, Gladstone winning five and five ending in deadlocks.

Gladstone and Escanaba have met annually since 1923. Previous to that year the series was spotted, with two games played in the 1901, 1905 and 1911 seasons. The Eskymos have a three-year victory streak going against Gladstone. The 1949 game ended in a 7-7 tie.

Reserves Play Friday

Reserve teams of the two schools will open 1953 hostilities with a game at the Gladstone gridiron Friday at 3. Bands of both schools will be on hand to entertain at the varsity clash Saturday.

Coach Joe Milokna's Eskymos are stressing defense in drills this week with all regulars except one slated for starting assignments.

Jim Mongrain, end, has a pulled side muscle that has kept him out of action for two weeks and will be replaced in the starting Eskymo lineup by Jim Boim.

Junior quarterback Jim Beck will get the starting call in the backfield composed of Bob Bero and Marshall Judson at the halfback posts and Don Dahlin at fullback.

The Eskymos will be shooting for their first win of the season against their nearby neighbors. Escanaba has lost six straight starts.

Have 3-4 Record

Coach Don Pfothenauer's Braves enter the game with three wins against four losses for the year. After a slow start in which they lost narrow-margin decisions to St. Joe, Munising and Manistique, the Braves defeated Marquette, Ishpeming and Stephenson. Their other loss was a 13-12 decision to the Newberry Indians.

The game will close Gladstone's schedule for 1953 while the Eskymos have one remaining

McDonald Specialist In One-Platoon Era

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Who said the day of the football specialist is over?

Duncan McDonald, a 175 pound junior from Flint, Mich., gave the lie to that belief the last two Saturdays as Michigan scored victories over Iowa and Northwestern.

As a spot passer he played a total of only 9 minutes and 30 seconds in the two games. In that time, he threw 14 passes, completed eight for 155 yards and four touchdowns and retired to the bench.

Three of his touchdown passes came in a 2 minute 55 second stint against Northwestern.

Georgia Tech Should Beat Irish On Record

By TOM BRANAGAN

CHICAGO (AP)—If you take a look at the record, Georgia Tech should be a cinch to take Notre Dame in Saturday's big football game. The score should be Georgia Tech 31, Notre Dame 6.

That's the number of games each team has been able to string together without defeat. Tech's skinn stretches through four seasons—including five 1953 games. Notre Dame's started at the tail end of last season and includes three 1953 victories.

But if The Associated Press poll to determine the nation's top teams is any indication, Notre Dame should be a heavy favorite.

The Irish lead with 1,153 points in the weekly vote of sports writers and sportscasters. The Ramblin' Wrecks ranked fourth with 769 points. Notre Dame received 57 first place ballots, Tech only 3.

The mid-week consensus around Chicago was that the Irish would do well to escape seven points to the good.

If you gathered official comment at South Bend, Ind., home of Notre Dame, and at Atlanta, Georgia Tech's home city, you'd come away with the impression that neither team could possibly win.

Coach Bobby Dodd of the Wrecks says sadly, "We're just not as good as Notre Dame."

Fretful Frank Leahy, the Irish overseer, can find nothing cheery to say of Notre Dame prospects and hails the southern Engineers as "tougher than ever."

The game will be witnessed by a sellout crowd of 57,000.

Giants Post Fourth Victory In Japan

SAPPORO, Hokkaido, Japan (AP)—The New York Giants shakked their Tokyo baseball namesakes 8-1 today in a steady drizzle before a crowd of 20,000. The Giants' 10 hits included Hank Thompson's home run.

The Tokyo Giants went hitless against righthander Alan Worthington for seven innings. Lefty Monte Kennedy gave up two hits and one run in the eighth.

It was the fourth straight win for the New Yorkers.

May Reduce Sentences Of Ineligible Youths

LANSING (AP)—Ten high school youths suspended from athletic competition for accepting merchandise awards in summer sports may get their "sentences" reduced.

This became a possibility after a citizens committee Tuesday recommended softening of the penalty for violating the high school athletics "awards" rule.

However, the committee proposed to re-establish the old "awards" rule despite its suspension by a legislative committee recently.

New Rule Will Apply

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, named the 17-man committee to review the entire control of high school athletics and rewrite the "awards" rule. He acted after a legislative committee suspended the old rule because he would not reinstate the 10 youths.

Dr. Taylor told reporters he had promised to apply the new rule to the case of the 10 youths if he found it acceptable.

If he applied the new rule, the 10 youths would be reinstated to athletic eligibility sometime next February. This would be a 50 per cent reduction in their penalty since they were suspended for the entire school year.

Penalty Will Vary

The committee—10 of whom are educators—recommended that the previous penalty of an automatic one-year suspension be changed to a suspension ranging from one semester (half a year) to a full year at the discretion of the Michigan High School Athletic Council or executive committee.

But the committee was unable to agree on a new "awards" rule which it thought would be better than the suspended rule. So it recommended the old rule for "clarification" and recommended it be re-established.

Must Instruct Students

Charles A. Semler of Benton Harbor, chairman of the state and national high school athletic associations, said the one semester minimum penalty would tend to become the maximum penalty if the new rule were adopted.

The committee also moved to meet complaints that athletes violate the rule through ignorance.

It proposed a rule requiring the superintendent and principal of every high school to certify to the state that each student in his school has been instructed in the eligibility rules.

Maraschino Cherry Man-Made Product At Traverse City

By JERRY SULLIVAN
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Traverse City "brewmasters" go nature one better in producing the bright red cherries found in your cocktails, ice cream, and candy.

Traditionally the cherry capital of the world, Traverse City has developed its most glamorous cherry — the Maraschino — from what was once an outcast in this area of the red sour cherry.

The Maraschino, beautiful, juicy, and firm, is just as artificial as it can be.

"Cherries just don't grow that way," Jack Nelson, head chemist for a large Traverse City cherry packer said. "What we go through to make them sell is as complicated as brewing beer. You might call us brewmasters."

The Maraschino is derived from the dark sweet cherry. It is an imitation of the imported Marasca cherry, found abundantly in Italy. However, Nelson and other cherry growers say the imitation is better than the original.

The brewmasters bleach out the color, then recolor red, green, or wine shades.

"We could make them pink or blue, if we wished," Nelson said.

While the tart cherries are processed in six weeks, the Maraschino cherries take several months to ready for the market. Most are split up for ice cream manufacturers.

The use of the cherries in ice cream began 16 years ago. Howard Black, an ice cream salesman, vacationing in Traverse City, asked how many Michigan cherries were going into ice cream. The answer was none. Today Black and two Traverse City men are putting 90 per cent of their sweet cherry production into ice cream.

Soap Good First Aid For Poison Ivy, Cuts

When you pack that picnic basket include a cake of soap. Someone in your party who has never seen poison ivy before may bring some to you to admire. Quick washing with soap and water will remove the resulting irritating substance from the skin and will help prevent spreading until proper medication can be applied. Prompt washing of scratches or cuts with soap is excellent first aid treatment and will eliminate much of the danger of infection. But it does not mean that no further treatment may be necessary.

Kids Give Warning Of Speed Trap

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Brown County police were doing a rushing business in suburban Allouez, using their new radar equipment to pick up speeders.

Suddenly, every car approaching the radar location slowed down to a strictly legal 25 miles an hour.

The police officers finally investigated. A few blocks away, a group of children were hailing each car with:

"Radar ahead! Radar ahead!"

Wants To Buy Home— Holds Down Four Jobs

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — Frank Walker favors a 30-hour day. Then he could squeeze in another job or two.

Twenty seven-year-old Walker holds down four jobs now.

Daytime, he drives the Holland department store delivery truck. Late afternoons, he cleans up the business offices on the second floor of the Holland building. Then he dashes over to the Western Union office for another cleanup job.

After dinner, Walker reports to a drive-in where he's a car-hop.

Incentive? He wants to buy a home for his wife and two children.

Developed as a curiosity is a radio that is only 1½ inches long by two inches wide by three-quarters inch thick. A loudspeaker the size of a quarter may be worn on the coat lapel. The radio will pick up stations 100 miles away under good conditions.
